To whom it may concern

I am treating cancer for now 40 years using complementary oncology as support to chemotherapy and have gained an international respect and reputation for my work.

Last June 2012 I was invited at the 2nd Congress on Complementary Oncology hold in Munich, set up by the German Society of Oncology where specialists and respectable doctors delivered lecture.

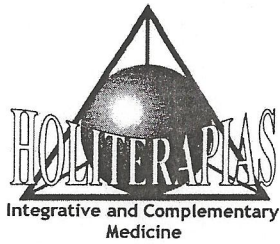

Treating cancer and specially cancer recurrence with metastases is not easy especially when tumor resistance decrease the efficiency of antineoplastic agents.

We can have better result by a combination of chemotherapy and natural anticancer agents who have demonstrate efficiency to target cancer.

For more than 6 months we are in an uncomfortable situation not been able to use Ukrain with our cancer patients which for many are deseperated situations. For many chemotherapy is not functioning anymore and the responsibility is enormous of what next to do.

We have even cases when hospitals say "there is nothing more that we can do" of course we have all the hospital reports in our hand to prove the statements.

After Ukrain was restricted and unavailable few of our patients that were improving, get worst and some already die.

We feel that treating cancer cannot be a political fight but a human duty where doctors should use both conventional and non-conventional medicine for the benefit of the patient.

We have a badly need of Ukrain, since so many patients are desperated and now many cancer people are just now going outside of Portugal seeking help.

I just hope that Ukrain can be available to qualified doctors that are really treating seriously cancer disease alone with chemotherapy.

I am at your disposal to send more information and details.

Best Regards
